

We'd love to be your 1st or 2nd Choice!

Why would we want to be your 2nd choice? Quite frankly, it is because we have evidently not yet earned the right to be your 1st choice. This could be because you've never used us before or you have a more established relationship with another vendor.

But we are ok with being your backup option when your current preferred vendor is not available to handle your emergency need.

And when we have the chance to serve you, we will treat you as if we were your preferred vendor. Yes, we are perfectly fine being in second place, until we have earned the right to be in first!
